CHAS. W. ADAMS

Charles W. Adams, who had been at the point of death for several weeks, passed away early Friday morning. Deceased had long been a sufferer from the effects of an injury to one of his limbs in boyhood, and several years ago was laid up for many weeks with the trouble.

While at work in charge of the Merchants elevator, early in the marketing season he sustained an injury to the affected member, and this was complicated with other ailments.

He was widely known in eastern Brown county, having been a teacher in the public schools during the winter months; also gave much time to carpenter work, at which he was skilled, in the summer time.

Charles Willis Adams was born near Montezuma, Iowa, Sept. 16th, 1878.

He leaves to mourn him, a wife and two small daughters, father, mother, four sisters and two brothers.

Funeral services were conducted at the home on Sunday afternoon.
