R RESIDENT
SSES SUDDENLY

1-22-1920

ON ANSWERS FINAL
S WITHOUT WARN-
G FRIDAY

genuine sorrow spread unity Friday noon when
own that W. J. Rawson, dent of this city had died Rawson, who had not poor health, but active his years, worked in his ent noon, going into the dinner hour and com-
pain in his chest. Mrs.
d to call a doctor, but He sat down in a chair
hot water bottle over the pain, and in a few
ould that he felt better,
to eat her dinner,
would remain quiet for
Mrs. Rawson went room, and a few mo-
heard the bottle fall to went into the room, but Rawson dead. The end
enly and without pain

was born in Union
Wisconsin, Aug. 22,
family removed from
ton, Wis., where he re-
was about twenty-six
going from there to
Minn. On March 4, Meadow, he was
riage to Miss Mary M.
together with two chil-Amley and W. John
his departure. Two died in infancy. In 1880
ed to Ortonville, Minn., ame to Groton.

was a man of sterling
character, a loving huser, a true friend and to his fellowmen, en-
gentle and charitable ways seeking to find the
and to construe the ac-follows in the best posright and honest in his ings, he is sincerely
entire community, in
he has taken such
He has been honored
of responsibility. He
of the city of Groton 1908. He was clerk of county from 1906 to time of his death was position which he had years. He was a
I. O. O. F., and had
ces in the local lodge.
member of that order ty-five years. He was of the Encampment, Maccabees, having been
of the latter society
ation. He was a mem-Protestant Episcopal
years and was treas-
church.
ices were held Sunday
the Presbyterian
a large concourse of
to pay their last re-
mory of their departed ghbor. The services at conducted by the Rev.
Aberdeen, and at the Groton Union cemetery,