GEORGE DOBSON

George Dobson died at his home on Main street, Groton, last Thursday night, after a very brief illness. Earlier in the day, Thursday, he seemed to be in his usual health, but was stricken with paralysis while out in the yard. He was carried into the house, but never recovered consciousness.

Deceased was seventy-three years old, a native of Yorkshire, near Thursk, England. Came from London to South Dakota twenty-three years ago next May. A carpenter by trade, he had long been a familiar figure about Groton, and had the good will of all.

He is survived by a widow, and has two sons in England by a former marriage. He was married the second time twenty-eight years ago this month.

Funeral services were held Monday, the Episcopal church being filled by sympathizing friends. Rev. Hyslop of Aberdeen conducted the service, which was brief but impressive, consisting of scripture reading and prayer.
