The Life of Brett Arthur Neumann

- Brett Arthur Neumann of Tulare, Calif., died on February 11, 2010 from the arms of his loving family into the loving arms of his Lord.
- Brett was born on February 13, 1961 to Duane and Dodie Neumann in Webster, SD. The adored baby-of-the-family matured into an athletic young man. He excelled in Baseball, basketball and football while at Groton High School. His excellence in football earned him a full scholarship to USD where he started at linebacker. He graduated with a BS in Health and Physical Education.
- On September 8, 1984 he married the love of his life, Lori Regier. Their marriage was founded on their strong faith and filled with affection. They built a happy life together and had two beautiful children. By the emulation of Christ's provisional love, Brett was an extraordinary husband and father.

- Brett and his brother, Mark, were entrepreneurs of a small advertising business. Eventually, Brett began a vocation in classified advertising. Diligently, he managed for the majority of his career at the Visalia Times Delta. Later, he moved to The Fresno Bee until 2007.
- Brett was survived by his parents, Duane and Dodie Neumann; brother, Mark Neumann, sister Marsha Johnson; his wife of 25 years, Lori Neumann; and children, Jayme Cornett, Matt Cornett, and Joshua Neumann.
- There will be a private burial for the family at the Exeter Cemetery. A Celebration of Life Ceremony will be held at Valley Christian Church of Tulare on February 17 at 5:00pm. 432 E. Pleasant Ave.
