

V
AT REST

— 7-3-1902

The grim reaper of death has called on another home to give up a precious jewel, Lydia Amanda Stelter, daughter of Julius Stilter, living eight miles southwest of town. She was born the 6th day of August, 1891, in the home where her spirit took flight into the eternal world on June 26, 1902. She leaves father, mother, four sisters, one brother and many relatives and friends to mourn her loss. Funeral services were held at the Evangelical church, Sunday afternoon, after which the remains were gently laid to rest in Union cemetery. July 3, 1902
