

October 20, 1949

Suddenly at His Home

Friends in Groton and vicinity were shocked to hear of the sudden passing of William Inglis, 70. at his home in this city, Saturday morning.

He apparently died of a heart attack during the night, as he was found in his bed-room early in the morning by the Omer Nelsons, who occupy part of the Inglis residence.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, Oct. 18, at the Paetznick Funeral Home with the Rev. Frederick G. MacKenzie officiating. Burial was in the Groton union cemetery. Obituary next week.